CROWN POINT, INDIANA

OUT OF MANY—ONE

The students made their way in 1961, coming from life in the country and in the town—coming from eight different feeder schools. Their backgrounds, ranging from resort homes beside Cedar Lake to farms on the Nine-Mile Stretch to houses along Main Street, shaped many minds and many people—no two alike. Yet they met here with the same purpose, that of getting an education. They came to a school with many classes, many courses, many departments, many facilities, many teachers waiting to help them towards that goal.

AND CROWN POINT HIGH ## SCHOOL

Doors of ten entrance-ways opened and swung heavily shut time after time during 175 days of school. Each morning 1323 people made their way into Crown Point High School. They came through the doors as individuals, as contrasting personalities, and as holders of definite ideas. They called out their hi's and mingled in the halls till suddenly they were no longer so separate. Each did his part to make up a larger, more powerful whole—one thinking, acting, and feeling, vital school body.

Working part time in a local grocery store, one of the many summer jobs offered CPHS students, junior Terry O'Brien carries out the groceries of a customer.

In a doctor's office Myra Hamilton spends her working hours tending to appointments, patients, and medical equipment.

SCHOOL YEAR CALLS

Summer was the time for seeking jobs and having fun. Many students felt they should devote the long hours of June, July, and August to freedom, relaxation, and experiments in creativity. Others decided to get jobs to buy new clothes, help pay for college educations, or just to have extra spending money. One of the most popular summer "hangouts" for all was Fancher Lake. Each warm weekend it was quite normal to find the school crowd basking in the sun or cooling off in the lake. Returning late in the season from band, journalism, or cheerleading camps, from family vacations, from summer classes, and from the working world, students made it a point to show up at the county fair. It topped off the summer, providing chances for friends to get together, compare previous activity, and plan for the coming school year.

Seomstress Jonet Dieman, displaying her prize-winning coot of the fair, provides proof of how rewarding summer months can be when filled with creative activity.

STUDENTS FROM SUMMER WORK AND FUN

Pat Struebzig and Tom Maas, two of the many students who attended the Lake County Fair, ride the ferris wheel.

As the temperatures rose during the summer days, students left their work to take cool dips in Fancher Lake.

Ray Rogers, assistant principal, helps freshman Jan Luers find her homeroom the first day of school—thanks to an Inklings map.

Jim Marshall, Carol Sherck, Raxy Hopkins, and George Ranta are captured in the familiar school scene—"locker line-up."

IDEAS AND PLANS GROW

Throughout their years at CPHS, from orientation to graduation, students realized how impossible it is to exist without being influenced by others. In the classrooms they learned about a great range of subjects with opinions and knowledge expanding as far as they were allowed to. During lunch hours friends gathered together to eat, dance, talk, or join in intramural activities. Students with common interests and activities met at clubs and on athletic teams. They mingled at lockers, games, dances, or assemblies. Through many different means they enriched their personalities by contact with other individuals. This contact took on an international flavor when over the 1960 Fourth of July weekend twenty-three CPHS'ers housed a group of foreign exchange students. These youths came from such far away places as Turkey, Singapore, and New Zealand. Also, during the school year CPHS'ers were introduced to Haydee Plathy from Venezuela, CPHS's first exchange student. In return, a student from Crown Point will travel to a foreign country this summer—another phase in the business of people meeting people.

AS PEOPLE MEET PEOPLE

CPHS fans gather at an October football game to boost the Bulldog team on to victory.

Throughout the year the Class of '61, inspired by former grads such as Beth Mueller, worked toward graduation.

Mrs. Helen Polmer, guidance director, counsels junior Charles Robbins on his schedule for next year.

GIRLS

Displaying the latest fashions in the teen world are Dick Smith and Nancy Werblo.

The year's latest clothing styles and clever fads were important, as always, at CPHS. Boys' vests were labeled "neet" along with the senior fashion—cords. Bulky-knit sweaters and loafers added prestige to a boy's wardrobe. New fashions entered the young woman's world, too. Shortened hemlines, furry tops, and tunics were in order for school days, while tapered slacks and casual sweaters were appropriate for informal wear. Purple, the vogue in color, labeled outfits with that fashion-right look, as did angora-clad steady rings, circle pins, and chunky bracelets.

Chunky bracelets made their way in CPHS fashion this year by putting final touches on school outfits.

AND GUYS SHARE WEALTH OF STYLE NOTIONS

Donno Kelsey poses with a yardstick to show the new shortened skirt hemlines, the "latest" in CPHS style.

Making a phone call from the rec room is senior Deanno Dunker displaying her jacket and skirt cord combination.

Crown Point High is one of few schools in Lake County boasting of a recreational dance area for students. Hub teens gather here daily to mingle, chat, and buy refreshments.

Most spare minutes at CPHS were spent socializing; and a good portion of this social time was passed in the rec room—with its record selector for those desiring to dance to the latest hits, its candy counter for those preferring to munch snacks, and its roomy sidelines for those interested in standing, talking, and watching. Dancing was, of course, the most popular activity at the traditional Friday night dances and the many “dress-up” gatherings, such as the Rose Dance, Christmas Formal, Man-of-the-Year Dance, and Holly Hop. Perhaps the most widely attended dance of all was the Excalibur’s, at which there was actually very little dancing. All were much too busy running from one to another, gathering autographs on their yearbooks.

MINGLING COUPLES

Eagerly collecting scribbles on brand-new yearbooks, students keep busy at the Excalibur Autograph Dance.

John Sherwood is crowned Mon of the Year, while Joe Simonetto gets the Best Hot oword made by Carole Henderson.

Nancy Tuhy and Vaughn Rice, Princess and Prince of the 1960 Froshmore Hop, dance bedecked with royal leis.

LAUGH AND DANCE, CHAT AND EAT

Ron Koiser and Lynn Struebig, '60 prom king and queen, are presented with gifts and crowns by Kent Noyes, junior class president, in the Crystal Ballroom of the Gory Hotel.

Mr. Football, Jim Marshall, and Homecoming Queen Sue Sprinkle await future gala Homecoming festivities.

Dennis Nagle, F.F.A. president, places the jacket on Shirley Brumbaugh, signifying the sweetheart award.

QUEENS, KINGS,

Although royalty is not prominent in this country, it reigns plentifully each year at Crown Point High School. Two of the first people to be crowned in 1961 were the Homecoming Queen and her escort Mr. Football. Stepping into the spotlight next was the Holly Hop Queen, elected at the Christmas P.T.A. festivities. Then sweethearts of the F.F.A. and Hi-Y organizations greeted spring from their "honorary mascot" positions, bridging the way to the Junior-Senior Class Prom and its brand of royal personage.

Sharyn Fagen, the 1961 Hi-Y Sweetheart, smiles happily after receiving a dozen roses from Tom Tayler.

SWEETHEARTS SPARKLE AT GALA EVENTS

Conducting the grand march at the Holly Hop Christmas Semi-Formal dance is queen, Cheryl Frederick and her father on the right, followed by her court and dance guests.

Deanno Dunker and Dennis Henderlong stop to look at part of the decorations displayed at the Sunshine Hi-Y Christmas Formal, Sleigh Ride Under the Stars.

The music gold medal is typical of the numerous honors won by band and choir members during the year.

HONOR ROLLS, CITIZENSHIP GOALS

Lea Ann Newlon and Jim Crowell, selected as Junior High Good Citizens in May 1960, express their continued interest in government and community service as freshmen.

Scholastic achievement and good citizenship were well recognized in the 1960-61 school year. From seeing their names on the honor roll every six weeks to eating fried chicken at the Kiwanis Scholarship Banquet, students received their awards. Three CPHS students attended the World Affairs Institute in Cincinnati, taking part in panel discussions on current topics concerning America and the U.N. Also active in civic problems and governmental operation were the seniors who lived in Boys' State and Girls' State during June 1960. These delegates are announced each year at the May honor assembly for underclassmen, as are the Junior High Good Citizens and individuals achieving outstanding status in departments such as music, art, and drafting. At the similar convocation for seniors, scholarship announcements are made and class leaders are honored.

1960 Boy and Girl Staters are J. Dieman, who attended I.U. as J. Spencer's alternate, I. Denison, B. Lattes, J. Kretschmar, J. Flood, J. Thomas, M. Hamilton, and B. Mallatt.

INSPIRE AMBITION

Janne Turner, Arlene Nagy, and Dave Hamacher assume "worldly" looks in their new roles as delegates to the World Affairs Institute.

Jean Spencer, salutatorian of the Class of '61, queries the class valedictorian, Bob Lattes, on the progress of his graduation speech.

D.A.R. Good Citizen Jeon Spencer checks her civics book after taking a three-hour test on government, which, representing CPHS, won over three other schools.

Qualities of leadership, academic achievement, personality, ability, and citizenship were factors weighed when the Daughters of the American Revolution's model citizen was chosen. These same qualities were important in all excellence awards won by CPHS'ers throughout the year. Prime examples of this point were the junior Rotarians, Rotary-Anns, and Kiwanians, selected by the local Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs to participate in their programs. The Betty Crocker Homemaker and the National Merit Scholarship finalists also demonstrated superior characteristics in their individual areas.

CPHS EXCELLENCE

SWITCHBOARDS, TYPEWRITERS LEAD TO

Sally Stroup, one of CPHS's student switchboard operators, keeps a tangle of wires and incoming-outgoing telephone calls straight.

As students progress in school, one thing becomes apparent—they begin to take interest in areas that will someday become their life work. Vocational counseling is employed to establish the courses students will follow, and individual curriculum is planned accordingly. Each year the business course is pursued by a good portion of the student body. Several subjects, on different levels, make up this commercial study plan. Freshmen are able to begin with general business, in which they plan trips, keep expense accounts, and venture on other similar projects. Business math also gives practice in the art of account-keeping. Students who are at least sophomores have opportunity to take typing, either business or personal.

COMMERCIAL CAREERS

A second year of "key pounding" is offered to develop greater speed. This is also true of shorthand. Additional classes, such as book-keeping and business law, complete the dimensions of commercial study. Some students taking the course receive extra credits for actual office work in school. Helping out in the cafeteria, switchboard area, guidance, nurse's, attendance, and main offices, they acquire insight as to how their future jobs will be. By enrolling in the business course, students may become directly prepared for their careers.

Second-year typists pound the keyboard to perfect skills of speed and accuracy while taking a proficiency test.

Bobbie Broomhead advances her dictation speed in shorthand class to the voice of the tape recorder.

With complete modern facilities, labs and equipment, the CPHS science program captured students' enthusiasm. In general science many of these students learned the basic mechanics of the world around them, touching on phases of biology, chemistry, and physics. In biology classes sophomores explored the hidden secrets of life from the simplest one-celled plants and animals to the most complex. Traditionally, the class project raising the most excitement in this course was dissection. As the life scientists probed into their worms, clams, starfish, and frogs, tragic little accidents occurred, such as, "I cut out my liver; now what do I do!!" Actual lab work was also a favorite in chemistry. Besides memorizing valence tables and chemical reactions, experimenters learned many exciting things not in the text book—such as how to make explosions and that acid actually will eat holes in clothes. Seniors climaxed scientific study with physics, in which the principles governing matter were studied, again with experiments ranking high.

Marilyn Ringstrom and Roy Casper adjust the position of solar bodies on a planetarium in general science class.

TESTING AND PROBING,

Jim Francis observes the effect of reduced pressure on hot water as he operates a vacuum pump in physics class.

FUTURE SCIENTISTS WORK

Malcolm Ruby, chemistry teacher, replaces a bottle of potassium chloride.

Armed with bunsen burners, erlenmeyer flasks, and assorted acids, bases, and salts, chemistry students experiment.

Art Gustafson scrutinizes a formaldehyde jar packed with small dissection animals.

The efforts of C. White, K. Johnson, and S. Moffitt prove whipping up a coke requires little effort.

GIRLS WHIP UP

Senior home economics student, Lois Bernhardt models an evening dress she made in class.

Giving baby a bath in the home ec facilities are Vicki Urbanski, Valerie Ballman, and Mrs. Paul Georgas.

Marlene Kucio sews vigorously to complete a new evening dress in her freshmen home economics class.

SPECIALTIES OF THE HOUSE

Preparing an elegant dinner, planning a budget, mending a shirt . . . these are the home economics students. Girls conquered future problems, such as apartment planning, home decorating, family life, and child care. In addition, cooking and sewing, the basic essentials, were learned in class. Seamstresses solved the perplexing problems of altering, while cooks focused their talents on preparing many delicious specialties. Most girls found their knowledge of sewing and cooking valuable, since they were able to apply these techniques to their present household problems. They learned by doing. Many saved considerable sums of money on clothing, either sporty or dress wear. Then too, students who experimented with food in class cooked up exciting dishes at home for family dinners and snacks.

Nancy Anderson, Lea Ann Newlan, Vicki Rockwell, Connie Potz, and Jane Willman work on a home economics project.

SHOP BOYS

In wood shop junior Richard Baner labors over his hand-made creation.

Fireworks rain from welding stalls in the shop building as two CPHS'ers learn the art of metal fusing.

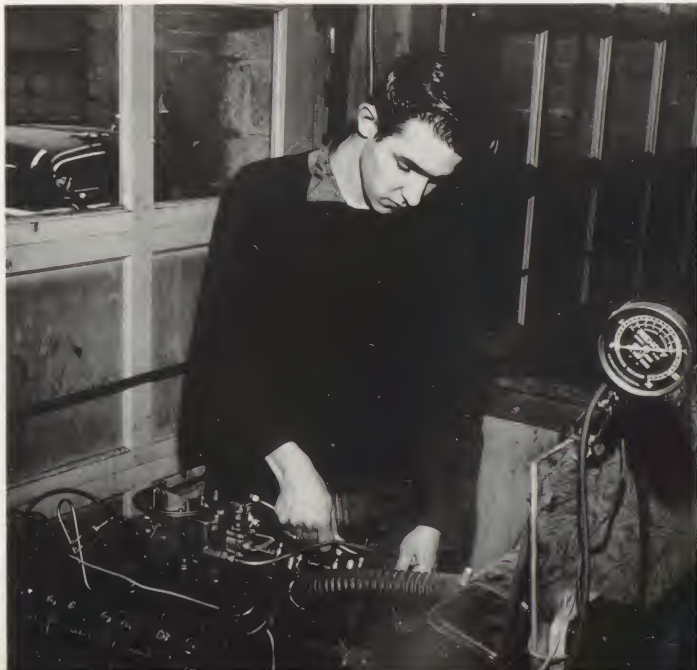

The CPHS shop department provided boys with good vocational trainings and increased their skills in hobby fields. In its building behind the main school structure, the department offered a variety of subjects. Classes included auto-mechanics, wood shop, machine shop, welding, agriculture, and general shop. After sampling a little of everything in the general shop survey course, the boys went on to more specialized work. For example, they learned how to test soil and what to do for mineral deficiencies. They learned techniques of cutting, brazing, and oxyacetylene welding. They worked with lathes and sanders, making tables and lamps of wood. They experimented with drill presses, shapers, and milling machines, working with metal. As mechanics, they poked wrenches into engines, ground valves, and observed gauge meters while deep in fine-tuning processes.

PEER INTO ENGINES, POKE AT SOIL

Junior Larry Groet puts his wrench in action in the process of overhauling a car engine—a project of his auto-mechanics class.

Through speech, reading, and writing, people find expression. Every day at CPHS students learned more and more about the value of this communication through subjects such as speech, journalism, and the languages. Developmental and remedial reading brought about higher speed and comprehension in students' reading. Speaking techniques and voice usage were explored in oratory classes. Styles and writing abilities were developed through publications work and lit and comp classes. Essay questions, themes, written reports, and paragraphs explaining everything imaginable were integral parts of school life. Term papers and thematic reading units stimulated thought for senior English students, while underclassmen perfected their grammar. Students of Spanish, French, and Latin, conjugating their verbs and memorizing vocabularies, investigated communication on a more international level.

FLUENT SPEAKERS, WRITERS PROVE VALUE OF

Senior Francis Jaeger delves into books, magazines, and pamphlets for her research material before writing a special report.

COMMUNICATIONS

Senior Jim Brocke delivers an oration while his fellow speech class students evaluate his presentation.

Junior Lolo Hudson mouths the vowel sounds learned in beginning French.

Staff members discuss features and news stories of the Inklings, CPHS's official weekly communications medium.

DRAWINGS, BOOKS, AND MUSIC FILL

Subjects slightly off the academic track, such as band, chorus, and art, added much to the color and variety of school life. Groups falling into these general categories came in many stages and forms. In music there were the A Cappella, Girls' Glee Club, Swing Choir, CPHS Marching Band, dance band, Dixieland band, and numerous ensembles. In art there were classes in commercial, craft, and traditional studies, plus those in the related fields of mechanical and architectural drawing. Spare time by the hour, in addition to daily class periods, were spent practicing flutes, vocalizing in madrigal groups, sculpting away at wooden figures, and laying out auxiliary views for technical drafting. Books and magazines, too, were popular time-fillers. The Crown Point High School library offered over 5 0 0 0 novels, autobiographies, reference books, and non-fiction works to students desiring aids for special papers and daily class work—or merely desiring entertainment. The library also had on hand current issues of sixty-five magazines and seven newspapers.

CLASS, FREE TIME

Junior Karen Staples uses the card catalog to locate a book in the CP school library.

Dick Yancey completes a floor plan in architectural drawing.

SOCIAL STUDIES LIFT VIEW TO WORLD LEVEL

Freshman Carlyle Gerde traces the kingdom of Attila the Hun in a world history study.

From tombs along the Nile to Civil War battles to problems of the United Nations, 700 students examined the world. These students delved into civics, economics, world history, geography, sociology, citizenship, and U.S. history. The courses, going deeper than just text book lessons, usually required many outside projects. This individual work—such as telling America's story through Sandburg poetry or contrasting Catholic, Jewish, and protestant church ritual—aided the students in their understanding of others. They grew more aware of life with its complex social, economic, cultural, and political ways—the political side of the story being especially well covered this year.

MATH AND PHYS-ED

Through efforts of the mathematics and the physical education departments of CPHS, students were inspired to develop alert minds and healthy, co-ordinated bodies. In 1961 these students made their decisions to tackle the basic high school course in numbers or to work in the four year math program. This math included introductory algebra, plane geometry, advanced algebra, and senior math, a new course offering study in solid geometry, trigonometry, analytic geometry, calculus, and statistics. New in the way of physical education was the extra enthusiasm brought out by gymnastic apparatus such as the horse, the parallel and horizontal bars, and the trampoline. In addition to regular gym classes with their program of games, free exercise, tumbling, and dancing, there was chance for noon-time exercise through the intra-mural activities. As outgrowths of these math and phys-ed efforts, seven seniors traveled to the Illinois Institute of Technology every other Saturday for a special course in mathematics, and a gymnastics team, something quite new for CPHS, was formed by twenty-seven phys-ed enthusiasts.

OUT OF MANY . . .

Capturing the interests of CPHS students throughout the year were twenty-six clubs—clubs which provided pleasant links with community-school service, with hobbies, and with academic areas. As well as filling idle moments, these extra-curricular activities enriched students with a broad range of social and intellectual education. Through the numerous functions of the organizations, talents and backgrounds were able to expand. Out of the many activities, one goal was created—that of producing the well-rounded, interesting individual.

ONE GOAL

COUNCIL SPEAKS AS VOICE OF STUDENTS

One of the most important organizations at CPHS is the Student Council. It develops student responsibility, school pride, and good citizenship. Its members are selected each year as representatives of the eighth grade through senior classes, while the officers are chosen by vote of the entire school body. In the spring of 1960 there was much campaigning and excitement over the election of these officers, plus cheerleaders, for the coming year. All through the remaining school months the new Student Council heads, Jim Van Woerden, president; Dennis Costin, vice-president; Virginia Foster, secretary; and Dick Smith, treasurer, were hard at work planning their ensuing program. During this time the old Student Council administration held an art contest to select a modern new cover for the revised high school handbook, 1960-61 edition. The handbook included CPHS's cannons of behavior initiated by past councils—the general honor code, safe driving code, dress code, and social code. In May 1960 the Council presented two scholarships worth $200 to Dale Trump and Karen Bremer, seniors who would attend two-year colleges. The 1960-61 Student Council made plans to again offer these scholarships. A week before school reopened in the fall, the new Council, sponsored by Ray Rogers, assistant principal, presented an orientation program for incoming freshmen.

Student Council officers, Jim Von Woerden, Dick Smith, Dennis Costin, and Virginia Foster, meet near the main hall bulletin board which lists the Council attendance.

During the year the Council operated the recreational area for its main source of income and sponsored one dance. Again it organized the Safe Driving Committee, which held "traffic court" for student violators once a week. Each month after observing fellow student drivers, committee members chose a "Safe Driver of the Month." At Christmas the Council decorated the halls in the traditional holiday theme—red and green streamers, Christmas trees, and tinsel. A first for CPHS was the suggestion box installed by the Council early second semester. It gave the students chance to express their opinions on school events and policies. Another aid to better school government was the Student Council State Convention at Horace Mann High School. Representing CPHS were Sue Sprinkle, Jim Van Woerden, Virginia Foster and Dennis Costin.

Officers J. Flood, A. Nagy, D. Costin, B. Spitsan and J. Knapp headed the Future Teachers Association in 1961.

Heading the Future Teachers of Crown Point this year were Jerry Flood, president; Dennis Costin, vice-president; Arlene Nagy, secretary; Barbara Spitsan, treasurer; and Joan Knapp, historian. An annual project, selling ice cream bars at home games, gave basketball F.T.A.'ers an opportunity to earn points. Since the point system was indoctrinated, the members showed more interest in accomplishing the club's tasks. Another project, designed to help high school teachers, was grading papers. In addition, the F.T.A. sponsored a scholarship and a dance. In the fall CPHS club members looked forward to the Round-Up, where they assembled with all other Lake County F.T.A. supporters.

ACADEMICS RATE WITH F.T.A. AND N.H.S.

Crown Point's chapter of the National Honor Society is an organization devoted to upper-classmen ranking high in leadership and scholastic achievement. Induction into the ranks of the "select few" took place early in April in 1960. Initiates, lighting their blue candles in the traditional ceremony, officially took part in their first Honor Society program. In the fall of the year after electing their officers, the thirteen members from the Class of '61 gathered at the home of sponsor Miss Alice Lauterbur for a Halloween potluck and costume fling. An extensive welcome-home party for CPHS grads attending college was given at Christmas time. This festive event was complete with a king-size tree, Santa Claus letters, carols, presents, refreshments, and slides of Switzerland, which illustrated the talk of former CPHS'er Miss Joanne Scott. A recognition evening planned for those on the honor roll all year and field trips designed to capture the pulse of nearby college classes completed the Society's 1960-61 agenda.

NURSES, SCIENTISTS SEEK LIFE'S CHEMISTRY

Starting with a new constitution, the Science Club completely reorganized itself this year. In accordance with this constitution, the club divided into smaller sections—astronomy, biology, chemistry, electronics, math, and rocketry. Each section was headed by one student, elected to represent the group on the board of vice-presidents, and was supervised by a teacher interested in that field. In these groups members had a chance to explore their interests more fully. Future chemists worked on individual experiments, mathematicians brought in unusual problems, while other members expressed their scientific interests through a range of projects. Their efforts, as well as those of students not in the club, were exhibited in the science fair annually sponsored by the Science Club. The club bought materials for the science department from the dues collected. Sponsors were Malcolm Ruby, Leonard Saylor, Charles Bowman, and David Schaeffer.

Visits to the Mercy and Methodist Hospitals in Gary and a trip to the new Parramore Infirmary addition gave F.N.A. girls opportunity for practical experience in the nursing field, as did time spent tending the school nurse's office. To raise funds for their organization, the members sold all forms of ice cream treats at home basketball games. Leading the group were Loretta Bieker, president; Pat Weaver, vice-president; Becky Denney, secretary; Harriet Madden, treasurer; Jamey Strong, librarian; and Nurse R. McFadden.

Hi-Y officers D. Hofferber, G. Ranta, H. Walters, G. Hershman, J. Brocke, and T. Taylor hold a pow-wow.

Sunshiners surpassed all previous records when they sold 10,620 boxes of candy and 204 candy canes, new to their selling list this year. Nineteen food baskets were distributed to needy families at Thanksgiving time, and concentrating on children's clothes, the S.S.S., with the Hi-Y, collected 100 bags of wearing apparel during their clothing drive. Always thinking of others first, the society once again donated two hundred dollars to the Riley Hospital for Children in Indianapolis. December found the girls giving small Christmas favors and planning the annual Sunshine-Hi-Y Christmas formal, "Sleigh Ride under the Stars," which 105 couples attended. Guiding the group through the activity-filled year to their May Breakfast climax were Mrs. Ruth Crowell, Miss Ora Rickenbaugh, and officers Janet Dieman, president; Pat Kruger, vice-president; Connie Patz, treasurer; Shirley Paulson, secretary; and Arlene Nagy, state president.

SUNSHINERS JOIN

Sunray officers Sue Dennison, Janis Clark, and Sue Golden get together to plan a meeting of their club, the Sunshine's little sister organization.

Sunshine officers Donna Woodke, Shirley Paulson, Pat Kruger, Connie Patz, and Janet Dieman stage a meeting of the summit to decide on club activities.

To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character is the goal of the Hi-Y. Members of the club, in partnership with Sunshine Society girls, carried out this ideal as they spurred on their energies in the annual clothing drive and Christmas formal. The Peanuts for Polio campaign in January gave members a chance to earn points as they sold bags of peanuts on the streets of Crown Point. The boys also helped football and basketball fans by parking their cars at home games. Activities of the club climaxed in the spring when the Hi-Y Sweetheart was announced at the dance in her honor. Directing the Hi-Y program for the year were officers Tom Tayler, president; George Ranta, vice-president; Jim Brocke, treasurer; Greg Hershman, secretary; Dave Hofferber, sergeant-at-arms; and Harold Walter, chaplain. They were aided by sponsor Clyde Zeek.

Joan Knopp and Arlene Nagy demonstrate their artistic talent by painting the entrance stor for the Sunshine-Hi-Y Christmas Formol.

HI-Y BOYS IN COMMUNITY SERVICE

Unlike most extra-curricular activities which provide students with amusement, F.F.A., F.H.A., and Librarians' Club prepare their members for useful vocations. The Future Farmers learned to put the modern methods of farming into practice. At Purdue University's High School Day members entered contests to identify vegetables, diseases, insects, and soil deficiency symptoms. The club, sponsored by Leon Dean, also elected an F.F.A. Sweetheart at their annual dance. Future Homemakers made stuffed animals for children's hospitals and presented a spring style show with members showing the clothes they had made throughout the year. Sponsoring the club were Mrs. T. Sendak and Miss A. Hubbell. One of the major projects of the students in the Librarians' Club was taking care of the school library. Members worked during study halls checking out books and locating magazines under the guidance of Miss E. Roney.

PROJECTORS, SHOP MACHINES, CAMERAS

In the line of duty, the Projectionists' Club performed practical service for CPHS. Faithfully surrendering study time so the "show would go on," its members showed movies and slides to classes throughout the day. Using available films from the library, the projectionists ran them for teacher's who wished to illustrate specific points, such as the nature of Anglo-Saxon England or the dangers of reckless driving. A school dance was a traditional event sponsored by the club and advisers Miss Esther Roney and Leon Dean.

In order to advance shop facilities, the Machinists sponsored a Friday night dance and the Inter-class Basketball Tournament, a colorful event consisting of roundball players from many classes, the club was able to procure funds to buy new and better tools. Consequently, more mechanical projects were undertaken throughout the year. Heading the club in 1961 were Don Ward, president; Pete Uhrhammer, vice-president; Dennis Fronek, secretary, Jack Campbell, treasurer, and Joseph Seale, sponsor.

KEEP GROUPS ACTIVE

"Hey! Shut that door. You're exposing my extra-sensitive film to light." This could be no other than a Camera Club member. These picture-bugs expressed a great liking for photography during the year. To capture an unsuspecting person or a unique scene with their small box cameras was a major ambition. A student did not have to own a camera to belong to the club, though, since one was available for general use. Joseph Heuer sponsored the members in activities from darkroom developing to the Camera Club dance.

G.A.A. GIRLS STAGE

With gymnastics, a new phase of recreation added to their schedule, the G.A.A. members were able to develop their athletic needs. Although this sport is not new, this was only the second year Crown Point High has included it in its program. In the fall, club members were busy preparing for a "play-day". G.A.A.'s from the entire Calumet region were invited. Basketball, folk and modern dancing, and gymnastics were featured, plus a delicious meal cooked cafeteria-style.

ATHLETIC PLAY DAYS

Every week in early Spring, G.A.A. golfers went to the Oak Noll Course for a 9-hole round of golf. Assisting Janet Barmore, president, was Christel Bambullis, sporthead, Sally Ann Polivka, vice-president, Arlene Kors, recording secretary, Janet Schulte, corresponding secretary, and Dixie Paarlberg, treasurer. Putting the final touch on the year's events was the banquet, climaxed by award presentations to all hard working members.

G.A.A. officers are C. Bambullis, J. Barmore, D. Paarlberg, J. Schulte, A. Kors, and S. Polivka.

Judy Jackson practices shooting during G.A.A. recreation on time. Basketball techniques were developed at these sessions, which were on the days of varsity games.

J. Willie, S. Sprinkle, M. Hamilton, and D. Dunker directed the Booster Club activities in 1961.

Give me the red! RED! Give me the white! WHITE! Yea, team, fight! Hear that swelling sound—feel your pulse race as capes flash in red and white formation, and voices ring louder and louder, straining to boost the spirits of the players. This is the Crown Point Booster Club. Leading it in 1961 were officers Sue Sprinkle, president; Myra Hamilton, vice-president; Janice Willie, secretary; and Deanna Dunker, treasurer. Russell Keller and Mrs. Marilyn Goodwin joined these girls in sponsoring the club's many activities—making posters, hiring busses for out-of-town games, meeting every third Wednesday of the month, and planning Homecoming events.

To be able to sport the big white C on the red sweater each boy in Lettermen's Club had to have a major award in athletics and had to pass a test on club rules and regulations. The letter sweaters, plus a projector for the athletic department, were paid for by fund-raising projects like selling programs at football games, selling cokes at basketball games, and sponsoring two dances. During its bi-monthly meetings the club, headed by Ray Schmidt, president; George Kmetz, vice-president; and Vaughn Rice, secretary-treasurer, decided to admit the new gymnastics team to their ranks. The club's two sponsors were Dave Schaeffer and Jerry Jones.

'GEORGE AND COMPANY' BOOST TEAM SPIRIT

A symbol of CPHS tradition is George VI. He victoriously returned to football and basketball games this year with a shiny, new point job.

As the Hub football team dashed onto the field, the cheerleaders led the fans through diversified yells. Bright, new cheers joined the ranks of familiar words like Go! Fight! Win this game tonight! Donned in the school colors of red and white, the cheerleaders and sports enthusiasts backed the teams win or lose. As the football season ended, the basketball season, enveloped in the new spirit of the gym, made it possible for better pep club organization. The varsity cheerleaders led the "howling hundreds" at games, while the reserves also encouraged Bulldog boosters with peppy yells. Cheerleaders and Booster Club members created, for the third year, the lively red and white booster block. Pep sessions made it possible for boosters to keep informed on recent yells. Crowd psychology and effective cheers were worked out and perfected at the Smith-Walbridge Cheerleading Camp in summer. At the camp, CPHS yell leaders not only acquired new ideas, but also learned from meeting new friends. Keeping the cheerleading club on its toes were Diana Lundgren, varsity captain; Cindy Barnett, reserve captain; and Miss Leora Warble, sponsor.

During an exciting moment of a Bulldog basketball game, the varsity yell leaders stir the crowd into an uproarious pep cheer.

Eighth grade cheerleaders, Jane Carter, Ruth Ann Mazure, Peggy Vinnedge, and Judy Vinnedge practice a new cheer.

Going through paces are frash yell leaders Vicki Rockwell, Jerry Dickinson, Lea Ann Newlan, and Karlo Knesek.

Boosting crowds at reserve games this year were Mary Fran Glassford, Arlene Henderlang, and Cindy Barnett.

With mascot George are varsity cheerleaders Georgeann Palen, Diana Lundgren, Kathy Esser, and Sharyn Fagen.

Out of the many clubs at CPHS, three, Speech and Debate, Latin, Modern Language, are exclusively for those students who enjoy languages, old and new, foreign or familiar. Speech and Debaters gained experience in the art of English conversation and in the field of formal debating. They competed with other schools at the regional contests. Modern Language Club members used tape recorders to improve their foreign accents, and once again they subscribed to several French and Spanish magazines, besides sponsoring a sock-hop. For the second year the Latin Club journeyed to Chicago to see "Ben Hur," a realistic presentation of Roman life. In the spring, they dined at the Latin Club Banquet, where everyone came clothed in Roman garb.

Modern Language Club officers, C. Skoog, S. Alston, B. Denney, and M. Bissing, demonstrate the use of the tape recorders in improving students' foreign accents.

1960 and 1961 were years of many firsts for the A Cappella choir. Its members, numbering over seventy, soon learned at the annual choral contest that their weeks of hectic practice by the hour had finally paid off. They were awarded the first number one rating for Crown Point in ten years. Solo and ensemble contest again found many anxious contestants gathered around wherever ratings had been posted, only to find that over one third of the thirty-four CPHS'ers who had entered came out with a first or superior rating. Of the two-thirds left, there was a majority of excellent awards and the remainder was third or good ratings. The A Cappella participated in the newly formed Choral Festival along with five other schools in the immediate area. Contests weren't the only places where the choir gained glory and were kept busy. There were also many performances given. On May 5 and 6, 1960, the A Cappella operetta, "Showboat," was enacted with the leading roles being played and sung by Roberta Smith, Dave Buche, Dick Ruehl, and Steve Jacoby. The choir purchased a completely new wardrobe this year. In keeping with the school colors, the old, worn-out maroon robes were replaced by brilliant red ones with white satin stoles. For less formal presentations the members garbed themselves in their new gold dresses and olive sport coats. Groups branched off from the A Cappella, such as the Madrigals and Swing Choir, were kept active by entertaining civic organizations, church groups, and sororities. All choral groups were under the direction of Mrs. Mary Lou Merkner.

Hard work and strain promoted the CPHS Marching, Bulldog Band into capturing the State Fair's fourth place title. Eighty-seven band members, twenty-three cadets, and five majorettes marched onto the field displaying the red and white. Peppy tunes, along with an intricate routine, were effectively presented. In addition, the Crown Point High Band produced many money-making projects during the year. Trips and concerts were band-sponsored activities. The solo and ensemble contest at Lew Wallace High School in Gary made it possible for members to attain recognition for their musical efforts. Seventy-one first place awards and nineteen second-place awards were divided among band entrants. Carl V. Smolik, director, Ted Sendak, vice-president, Rance Buehler, president, Diana Lundgren, secretary, and Kathleen Brindley, treasurer, headed the 1961 band group.

Musicians T. Sendak, R. Buehler, D. Lundgren, and K. Brindley lead the CPHS bond group.

CADETS, TWIRLERS, COMBOS CAPTURE THE BEAT

Majorettes, who led the CPHS Marching Bulldogs at the State Fair and home football games are, Sharon Johnson, Linda Dunkle, Jim Knight, drum major, Karen Wiltfong, and Carla Palmer.

Proudly strutting onto the football field for the varsity's last game, was the fifty-seven member junior-high band. In their black uniforms trimmed with gold, they entertained the crowd with lively tunes. Also, the reserves presented music for the Christmas Concert and home basketball games. Heading the organization this year were officers, Janna Clark, president, Richard Spencer, vice-president, David Mohr, treasurer, and Barbara Blum, secretary. Along with the majorette squad entertaining the football crowds were the cadets. These two groups added color to the band's intricate routines. Fluffy red and white shakers of crepe paper augmented the cadets' cream-white uniforms. Don O'Niones and Wayne Hinkle, an Indiana University student, aided the band, cadets, and majorettes in perfecting the desired technique for the State Fair contest. Branched off from the regular band was the dance band group. Couples whirled to their light-hearted music at gay social functions during the year.

ARTISTS AND DRAMATISTS

Under the guidance of Mrs. Norma Schaeffer, the Drama Club learned about acting, make-up, and stage techniques. Members gave criticisms on plays and individually provided dramatic presentations at the meetings. Besides their programs of skits and monologues, the budding actors and actresses staged a banquet in the spring. Officers were Starr Giese, Ed Langeland, Suzanne Briney, and Barb Sickles.

CREATE SCENES FOR PUBLIC PRESENTATION

Artists found more than extra drawing time at Art Club meetings this year. For the first time the club made and sold colored net Christmas trees. It also took in its first stage play, "Flower Drum Song," during a field trip to the Chicago Art Institute. It sponsored student art work for display in the offices of Principal Gilbert Weldy and Superintendent of Schools Robert Brannock, in addition to

"one-man show" exhibits in the main hall. Designing and printing program covers and award emblems for school functions, such as the intramurals program, and a Buck Hill tobogganing party were other club activities. Working with sponsor Paul Georgas were officers Jean Spencer, president; Pat Weaver, vice-president; Joan Miedl, secretary; and Bill Engstrom, treasurer.

As son Jake looks on, Mama consoles Emma after Papa threatens to whip her for a harmless act she committed.

Up went the curtain on the Junior Class play "Papa Is All." Portraying a Menonite father who ruled his family with an iron hand was Denny Costin. In sharp contrast was deeply religious, meek Mama, played by Cindy Saager. She, loyal to Papa yet desiring to see her children's ambitions fulfilled, was caught in the middle of opposing forces. Romantic daughter Emma (Suzanne Briney) and Jake (Tom Armstrong), the mechanically-minded son, were constant targets of Papa's wrath—till they succeeded in removing him. The town gossip, Mrs. Yoder (Ina Gay Denison), and state trooper Brendle (Dick Smith) added gay touches to the play. Marion Kellum, assisted by Starr Giese, directed the production.

INMATES, MENONITES

Junior Play Cast—Dick Smith (Brendle), Sue Briney (Emma), Cindy Saager (Mama), Dennis Costin (Papa), Tam Armstrong (Jake), Ina Gay Denison (Mrs. Yoder).

It's all a "nut house" in the Senior Class play, "The Curious Savage," by John Patrick. Mrs. Savage (Starr Giese) and her teddy bear were committed to a mental institution by her three stepchildren all because of the root of all evil, her $10,000,000. The stepchildren, Don Glassford, Jim Hudson, and Suzanne Briney, threatened and searched for the money, but their efforts were in vain. Who could win with inmates Hannibal (Denny Nagle), Florence (Janet Kaiser), Fairy Mae (Sue Sprinkle), Jeffery (Dick Smith), and Mrs. Paddy (Kathleen Brindley) against them! Joe Simonetto and Janice Biggs played the staff doctor and nurse, and Barbara Sickles and Mrs. Norma Schaeffer directed the cast.

Fairy Mae is entranced by Honnibal's violin while Mrs. Paddy paints, oblivious to all in "The Curious Savage."

HURRYING, WORRYING JOURNALISTS SHAPE

Excalibur heads R. Hopkins, S. Yornell, P. Struebig, D. Kelsey, and J. Spencer pool their talents to conquer a stock of uncropped pictures before the coming deadline.

Editor Donno Anderson and associate editor Rick Harrison proofread stories for their next Inklings issue.

When contracts had been signed, and four journalists, Donna Kelsey, Jean Spencer, Pat Struebig, and Sandra Yarnell, made plans to attend Indiana University's High School Journalism Institute, the '61 Excalibur began. Two strenuous weeks, yet fun-filled, united the four girls in one aim—to bring to CPHS new ideas for pictures and copy. In fact, the H.S.J.I. judges awarded the Crown Point annual first place out of 125 other schools. Meeting deadlines and forcing copy to fit were frequent worries throughout the year for the staff until the final objective was attained. In correlation with Excalibur is the Inklings, CPHS's weekly newspaper. Reporters made the paper by writing all articles, polls, and sniffs. Then the editors, in turn, took action. Donna Anderson, editor, and Rick Harrison, associate editor, managed thirty-two issues and two fliers (two-page newspapers). They copyread all stories, completed page layouts, wrote headlines and cutlines, and delivered the paper to the printer. Circulation and advertising helped finance both publications.

Turning on her selling charm, junior Borb Everett makes a copy of the 1961 Excalibur legally Diane Hooks'.

OUT OF MANY . . .

A tear rolled down someone's cheek as the Clark vs. Crown Point battle ended at the East Chicago Sectionals in '61 . . . this was an unforgettable memory of the many sports that revolved around CPHS'ers constantly. When Football left in the fall, Basketball and Wrestling captured spectator interest during Winter months, while spring's attention was focused on Golf, Track, and Baseball. A brand new team, the Gymnastics, was organized this year. In addition, Intramural activities infiltrated sports-minded students. Not only were Basketball and Volleyball teams organized, but also individual endeavors such as chess, ping pong, and shuffleboard gained attention.

ONE SPIRIT

Bulldog matmen proving to be too powerful for area opposition, wrestled to a perfect season. In the first meet of the season, the Bulldogs were out for a victory over arch-rival Merrillville and won a close decision 28-26. In the next three matches, the matmen held their opponents to less than twenty points, winning easily 25-17, 50-5, and 39-11 respectively over East Chicago Roosevelt, Portage, and Highland. Then came strong Hammond Tech, but the Bulldog matmen polished them off 26-21. Hammond Morton then made an attempt to mar the CP record failed in a close decision, with the CP matmen making it six wins in a row. Again three weak, but hopeful, teams tried unsuccessfully to pull a victory out of the bag, allowing Crown Point defeats over Gary Edison, Valparaiso, and East

Chicago Washington with scores of 36-16, 30-16, and 44-8. After easy victories over Hammond Clark, La Porte, and Hammond High, 30-19, 34-13, and 42-8, the Bulldog matmen ran into tough competition against Lowell. They took top honors, though, by defeating them 28-21. In their last meet the matmen walked over Hammond Noll 32-15.

The varsity matmen won the area sectional meet and qualified six men for the regional meet. At the state meet Jack Rees bettered his fourth-place position of last year to second place in the state. He and Jerry Huber were chosen co-captains of the '60-'61 wrestling team.

The reserve wrestling Bulldogs tallied an average 5-5-1 record for their season.

CPHS WRESTLERS COMPLETE SEASON

CPHS gridmen started an average 6-4 season by losing the lead-off game 13-7 to the Vikings of Valparaiso. The Bulldogs bounced back after their bad start with a 39-19 victory over the Bombers of Rensselaer and continued their good showing by knocking off Highland, 34-13. With a keen taste of victory, the Crown Point eleven moved on to drop an old rival, Merrillville, by a score of 38-0. Next to fall victim to the Bulldog team was the Edison squad, by a 27-6 score. For Homecoming, October 7, the Bulldogs were confident to meet the Brickies of Hobart. The first two quarters belonged to Crown Point, but the Bulldogs were out-played and completely outclassed during the second half as the mighty Hobart team moved on to a 47-7 victory. Not liking the taste of defeat the Hub team moved on to slaughter a weak Calumet team 52-0. Next to fall in the path of the Bulldogs were the Lowell Red Devils as the Crown Point team revenged their defeat of last year with a score of 31-7. Losing a heart breaker to Griffith by the close score of 7-0, the Bulldogs came home on November 4 to finish the season by losing to Lew Wallace of Gary, 19-12. Senior Tom Tayler, the fleet-footed halfback, was named most valuable player at the annual football banquet in the elegant surroundings of Teibel's Restaurant.

The Crown Point reserve football team, could muster only two wins and one tie out of eight games. In the first game the Bulldog team failed to score as a strong Morton team rolled to an easy 38-0 victory. Next on the list was Edison, who once again conquered the Crown Point eleven scoreless as they took a 32-0 victory from the struggling reserves. The next game was somewhat the same since Crown Point failed to score again. This time Andrean High delt the defeating blow with an 18-0 score. In the middle of the season the CPHS gridmen finally gathered enough power to score, but it wasn't enough to stop a powerful Chesterton team who rolled to a 47-7 victory. The next game found the reserves pitted against the Red Devils of Lowell, who were defeated for a first seasonal win. After defeating Lowell, the Crown Point reserves downed Rensselaer 34-6, but were then defeated by a strong Roosevelt squad, 28-0. For the footballers last game, they were ready for Griffith, but were unable to gather the necessary points as they tied 7-7. This finished the season up with a 5-2-1 record.

Although the freshmen squad fought three games, they were unable to procure a win. Valuable experience was gained, however, which will make possible a stronger reserve squad.

HUB BULLDOGS DUMP LOWELL IN SECTIONALS

Looking ahead to a much improved season, the 1960-61 Bulldogs faced many disappointments, but staged a finishing burst that lifted them to a 6-15 record and a stirring performance in the East Chicago Sectionals.

The Hub City cagers opened the campaign on the road with losses to two strong Porter County foes, Chesterton, 60-54, and Valpo, 60-38. In the home-opener Horace Mann edged the Bulldogs 79-76 in overtime. The Red and White brought glory to the Hub by snapping a 24-game losing streak, 57-49 over Calumet. Next to feel the Bulldog surge were the Culver Cadets, as the Hubmen won 63-62 in overtime. The county seat quintet was defeated by Lowell, 68-46, in the Lake County Holiday Tournament at Griffith. To start the new year, Hammond Morton and Merrillville beat the Crown Pointers 74-61 and 66-47, respectively. A revised Hub squad downed Gary Edison 53-52 on the Hub hardwood. Highland beat the county seaters 73-55, and Lowell won again over the Hub 61-41. East Gary and Rensselaer were victorious, 66-56, and 59-40, respectively. The Bulldogs battled hard against three strong teams but lost 71-50 to Gary Wirt, 69-60 to Griffith, and 66-54 to Hammond Noll. Dyer won 60-50 to extend the losing streak to eight.

The Bulldog victory train started to roll again with victories over Portage, 67-63, and Hobart, 65-50. The Hub City roundballers entered sectional play heavy underdogs but upset old arch rival Lowell, 57-44. The county seaters turned in their best game of the season as they shocked the area with a near upset of heavily-powered Hammond Clark, but fell short 57-53. John "Sparky" Sherwood scored 48 points in the two tournament games to help regain the Bulldogs' sectional prestige.

Norman Mills, junior, brings the ball down court to start an action-packed play, common at every Hub game.

RESERVE AND FROSH PUPPIES GAIN TEN WINS

Reserve roundballers mustered only four wins out of eleven games. They lost to Chesterton in a close 27-26 game but bounced back to win over Valparaiso. The team then fell prey to Horace Mann, Calumet, and Andean. With a dashing try it downed Culver 50-45 before running against a strong Morton team and losing 46-27. The puppies captured top honors as they won over Merrillville and Gary Edison, but then lost their last games to Highland and Lowell.

The men of '64, too, ran up against the stiff competition of area opposition and won only six of sixteen games. Sandwiched in between defeats at the hands of Chesterton, Andean, and Highland, was a CP victory over Lowell. The freshmen then scored wins over Valparaiso, Merrillville, and Portage but fell to Rensselaer. They lost a 48-44 decision to Hammond Noll and were outplayed 31-13 in a return game with Andean.

The freshmen lost five games in a row, but won their last game, with Gary Wirt 49-34.

Although Bulldog ballplayers were big and strong, their bark was bigger than their bite. Crown Point started off on the wrong foot and lost their first game, 23-2, to Merrillville. They came back strong and trounced Dyer 8-0 in their next appearance. Then Crown Point ran up against Lowell and was defeated 9-5. Still the Bulldogs couldn't get back into the limelight as they lost to Chesterton 5-0 and fell to the hands of Griffith 16-0. When the Bulldogs played East Chicago Washington, they could only muster one run in the seventh inning and lost a close 7-6 decision. The Bulldogs lost another game to Thornton Fractional North 5-3 before they rolled over Hobart 10-5. The Bulldogs showed some improvement and took their second straight game by defeating Calumet 6-1. They then fell back and lost to Merrillville 3-2. In a return match with Hobart the Bulldogs went down swinging 10-0 and then lost again to Hammond Noll 9-0. With only two games left in the season the Bulldogs overpowered the Portage Indians 4-1. They lost the final game, though, to Hammond Morton 7-6, ending their unsuccessful season with a below average four wins to ten losses. The Bulldogs were left with thirteen returning lettermen for the 1961 baseball season.

The 1960 Bulldog golfers, inspired by returning sophomore lettermen Tom Kish, John Clark, and John Sherwood, tallied a 12-6 season for one of Crown Point's better years. Scoring near par tallies, Tom Kish led the squad with six medalist honors and a 38 for a low score. John Clark followed with four low honors and a 38. John Sherwood, the third man, took two low honors with a 39. Starting in a triangular meet at Lew Wallace, the Hub team split, beating Highland and losing to Lew Wallace. The Hub team was defeated in meets with Hobart and Hammond schools Morton, High, and Clark. Three wins over Calumet, two over Merrillville, Noll, and Highland, and single wins over Lowell, Griffith, and Morton, finished out the Hub team's season for Coach Pete Bellessis.

CINDERMAN GATHER TO LEAD SPRING SPORTS

Once again the CPHS cindermen rolled to an undefeated season in dual meets. Their season record stood at 3-0-1 with the one tie coming from Valparaiso. Other than the dual meets, the team competed in five relays plus the sectionals. The first meet of the season was the Sixth Annual CP Invitational Indoor Track Meet held in the Chicago University field house. CP placed second out of four teams, with an old rival, Hobart, taking first. Joe Carter set a new indoor record in the broad jump with a leap of 20'5".

After the CP Invitational, Crown Point went to the Little Five on April 7, where they placed second out of five teams. At the meet Joe Carter set a new school outdoor record in the broad jump with 21' 1½". The CP cindermen then downed Calumet 81-28 in their first dual meet of the season. Out of thirteen possible first places, CP took eleven. On April 16 Crown Point traveled to the Hammond Relays, where they tied for sixth place. Ten days later they went to the Valparaiso Relays and pulled a third place. Next they took part in the Hobart Relays, where they came in second.

The Bulldogs came back to down Chesterton 64 1/6 to 44 5/6 four days later. CP took firsts in the high hurdles, 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 180-yard high hurdles, and broad jump, and ties in the pole vault, mile relay, and half-mile relay.

In another dual meet Crown Point defeated the Lowell Red Devils 69-40 and then went to the sectional meet on May 6, where they finished fifth out of thirteen teams. They sent two men, Bob Carl and Vaughn Rice, to the regional meet. As their last meet of the season, the team tangled with Valparaiso and fought to a 54 ½-54 ½ tie.

On May 11 the freshmen and sophomores took a fourth in the River Forest Frosh-Soph Meet.

The 1960 edition of the cross country team fell way below expectations as they sputtered to only four victories in twelve dual meets. The Bulldogs lost to Hobart, Chesterton, Valparaiso, Calumet, East Chicago Washington, La Porte, Hammond Morton, and East Chicago Roosevelt. They whipped Portage, Lowell, Michigan City, and Knox. The harriers lost seven meets by nine or less points.

They tied for first in the Delphi Invitational, placed third in the Hobart Invitational, sixteenth in the Shortridge Invitational meet, and wound up with a fourth in the La Porte Sectionals.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

It was the fourth year in a row that the Bulldogs had won the Delphi Meet. At the Hobart Invitational the Bulldogs ran behind Valparaiso and Gary Roosevelt. In this meet the boys defeated Hobart, the team which won the state championship. The Crown Point team placed their lowest in the Shortridge Invitational, a meet which is regarded as the toughest in Indiana. In the sectionals at La-Porte, Ray Schmidt placed second and qualified for the state meet.

Coach Malcolm Ruby will be without senior lettermen Ray Schmidt, John Frazee, and Randy McLean in the 1961 cross country season. Returning lettermen will be Jim Greiner, Norm Mills, Jack Barber, and Jim Kirkpatrick.

Crown Point junior highers have records they can be proud of in the 1960-61 sports season. Although the football team played only four games, they won three and lost one. Scherrville, Calumet, and East Gary fell to the hands of the little gridmen 30-6, 42-13, and 20-6. Their only defeat came when they played Griffith. CP put up a good fight but couldn't hold Griffith down as it went on to victory, 20-13.

In one dual track meet Crown Point defeated River Forest 99-33. In a triangular meet Crown Point placed second with Hobart placing first and River Forest placing last. In the Crown Point Invitational, Crown Point came in first with Lincoln, Taft, St. Mary's, and the Lutheran Schools placing behind them.

Junior high roundballers proved they were bigger than they looked and rounded off an outstanding 7-4-0 season record. Crown Point dropped their first two games to East Gary and Merrillville, 11-13 and 18-12. Then the roundballers came back strong and took their next three games from East Gary, Chesterton, and Lew Wallace by scores of 42-29, 28-23, and 33-29. Falling short in their game with Taft, Crown Point lost 19-12. The red and white miniatures jumped back into the lime-light by downing Lew Wallace 39-16, River Forest 25-13, Calumet 18-15, and St. Mary's 33-16. In the final game CP lost to Valparaiso by a score of 45-20.

All in all, this year the junior high Bulldogs proved their bite was bigger than their bark.

SOAR IN COMPETITION

Eighth graders get a taste of high school life by entering the competitive sport of basketball.

Intramural awards, consisting of red lettering on white felt, were presented to prize-winning CPHS athletes.

Once again CPHS'ers showed enthusiasm for the Intramural program, which was started last year. This year two new sports were added to the list, girls' soccer and archery. In soccer the winning teams were the Jaycees and Caesar's Romeos. Runner-up position was taken by Stoney's Nine for the fourth period, while Kathy's Clowns captured the fifth period title.

In table tennis the players were competing for school championship. The boy's division was taken by Jim Sandstrom, with Jim Knight as runner-up, and the girl's division was taken by Janne Turner, with Donna Stonecipher as runner-up. A doubles match was enacted by Richard McFarland and George Kmetz who took top honors, while Jim Sandstrom and Leslie Armstrong gained second-place honors.

Another popular sport was volleyball. In the boy's division the Ageless Eight captured first place in the fourth period competition with the Littlemen taking the runner-up spot. In

In fifth period it was the Naughty Netters who captured championship and Skoog's Scalewages in second-place.

In the mixed volleyball division, it was the Extremes who grabbed first place and the Juniors who were runner-ups.

Long distance running was another popular phase of the Intramurals. In the fourth period the winner was Jerry Hacker, and second place Bob Hanks. Fifth periods winners were John Frazee, first, and Jack Barber, second.

WHILE INTERCLASS TEAMS FIGHT FOR VICTORY

Sports-minded CPHS'ers kept busy with interclass tourney activities and with gymnastics, a new sport added to CPHS's athletic program. This co-ed sport is also quite new in other area high schools.

In their first competition the CP gymnastics team was pitted against Rich Township of Park Forest. The athletes were outscored 40-92; they were outscored again, 40-90, when they met New Trier of Winnetka, Illinois. After losing to New Trier, CP placed behind Dyer in a triangular meet with Dyer and Harvey of Thornton Township. After their second place, Crown Point once again met Harvey. In this dual meet the Bulldog gymnasts scored 49 points, but they weren't enough to beat Harvey, who tallied 83 points. After a fair season of dual meets, Crown Point traveled to Indianapolis for the state meet, where five members of the Crown Point team placed. These were Jack Rees, with a third on the rings; Rich Wright, with a second on the horizontal bars; Alex Tolemy, with a third on the side horse; Bob Henley, with a fourth on the trampoline; and Tim Ross, with a fifth in tumbling. Out of the eight teams entered in the state meet, Crown Point placed third.

The men's faculty team, adorned in humorous costumes, creates a surge of roaring laughter from the crowd.

OUT OF MANY . . .

PEOPLE

It takes more than a single train of thought, more than a single way of doing things, more than a single idea to form a complete and worthwhile whole. In 1961, 57 men and women of the faculty, 1186 seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen, and 137 eighth graders combined to give Crown Point High School this depth, variety, and strength. Their individual achievement, their likes and dislikes, and their highly personalized styles were evident in every nook of the school, yet they were one student body, thinking and doing the "Crown Point way."

NEW DUTIES NEED

Heading this year's administration for his fifth year, Gilbert Weldy, principal, accepted the new responsibilities which accompanied a higher enrollment and additional faculty members. To keep the school's curriculum and activities running smoothly was an additional duty. New this year was Ray Rogers, assistant principal and dean of boys, replacing Warren Garner. Mrs. Connie Woods, dean of girls, helped Mr. Rogers prepare absentee lists plus other counseling duties. Guidance director, Mrs. Helen Palmer, prepared student schedules and offered advice to seniors on a future career and college choice. Helping around the Gilbert Weldy, Crown Point High School principal, starts another active day of guiding the school plant composed of 1320 students and 53 teachers.

Mrs. Olsen and Miss Blackstone handled the accounting problems of all extra-curricular clubs and activities that transacted business through the doors of Crown Point High School.

office, Miss Blackstone, bookkeeper, handled the money from extra-curricular activities, while Mrs. Olsen, secretary to Mr. Weldy, was in charge of office duties. Robert Brannock, superintendent of city schools, headed the school board, composed of Kenneth Knight, Carroll Holley, and Paul Rapp. This administrative office represented public interests, planned the school calendar, plus handling many school policies. In conclusion, the board not only helped to advise student council members, but also aided the council in making final decisions on student problems.

Guidance counselor Mrs. Palmer, contacts a speaker for the Career Day activities, planned with student support.

Ray Rogers, new assistant principal, checks attendance in the office and performs other school duties.

Asst. Superintendent

Girl's counselor, Connie Wood, assists Mr. Rogers and manages the social studies department.

SCHOOL BOARD AND SUPERINTENDENT

School board members Carroll Holley, Kenneth Knight, Robert Brannock and Paul Rapp, aided by secretary Mrs. Ruth O'Neill, make their decisions concerning policies of CPHS from new offices located in the Community Building.

Robert Brannock, superintendent of schools, concentrates on administration reports while his secretary, Mrs. Ruth O'Neill, jots down his observations.

SENIORS . . .

Discussing financial problems, as well as plans for the prom, are the officers of the senior class, S. Fagen, treasurer, J. Biggs, secretary, T. Tayler, president, and T. Sendak, vice president.

Out of many . . . the Class of '61 . . . 270 individuals united in a four-year crescendo. On September 3, 1957, they poured through the four main doorways of Crown Point High School for the first time. As they set foot in this new, intriguing high school territory, they met, exchanging greetings, viewpoints, and self-conscious giggles. Soon strangers in homerooms became old, familiar friends; soon teachers, classrooms, and corridors became the most common, natural sights imaginable. Crown Point High School accepted the challenge of influencing these young personalities - of arousing desires to learn and stimulating intellectual, social, and moral growth. The days passed; the fun-filled, work-filled years passed. They brought the times of the Froshmore Hop, the class meetings, and the selection of class rings. They brought the times when brown and beige were chosen as class colors, when sweaters with big '61's first appeared on the campus, when "The Fountain of Dreams" was fashioned as the Junior Prom. There were priceless moments when the class paraded the halls in their senior cords, when they screamed and cheered at the sectionals. . . . And there was May 25, the day of graduation. The Class of '61 in brilliant red robes . . . its scholars, journalists, artists, secretaries . . . many, many personalities waiting to walk through the now ten doorways of Crown Point High School, out to a new world.

OUT OF MANY . . .

BUSINESSES

Traditions and improvements of 126 years, woven throughout all aspects of the Crown Point community, have combined to form an expanding little city of 300 businesses and 8750 people. Out of the many facets of change, with stores and offices relocated, remodeled, opened, and closed—out of the many forms of goods and services offered to the townspeople—out of the many phases of balance between rural and urban, commercial and residential—out of the many faces of modern trends and past establishments—the thriving Crown Point of 1961 was created.

what's their future

The young people you see in these pictures are all on their way to successful careers in one of America's basic industries . . . steel. They decided (as we hope you will decide) to let Inland Steel Company help them plan their future.

Some are gaining knowledge and experience in special trades to become journeyman machinists, carpenters or electricians . . . some are concentrating on certain phases of steelmaking by working in the open hearth shops, the cold rolling mills or the galvanizing lines. Still others are working in laboratories building a sound foundation for a future in steel research.

Inland offers the high school graduate an excellent opportunity to further his education. Employees may participate in a variety of on-the-job training programs, or they can continue their formal education by registering for evening courses offered by local Purdue and Indiana University Extension Centers.

Plan now to investigate the unlimited opportunities for you in steel . . . with the midwest's own steel company . . . INLAND STEEL.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1 million (Office of National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out a vision for the future of older people's services. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently in their own homes for as long as possible.
- Older people should be able to access the services and support they need to live independently.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives for the future of older people's services. These include:

- To ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need to live independently.
- To ensure that older people are able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- To ensure that older people live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key actions for the future of older people's services. These include:

- To ensure that older people have access to the services and support they need to live independently.
- To ensure that older people are able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- To ensure that older people live in a safe and secure environment.
